

Write Winger @RealWriteWinger

14 Jul 20 • 13 tweets • RealWriteWinger/status/1283179353849819136

Tr

1. Critical theory is taking socially binding norms and flipping the narrative to make them pejoratives, pathologies, and oppression that must be fought in order to destroy the strengths & defenses of a society, like what HIV does to the immune system

2. Critical theory as it applies to men and women is taking something as socially binding as the natural differences in mental and physical talents and abilities between men and women, and making them a pejorative called “sexism”

3. Critical theory as it applies to family is taking something as socially binding and natural as loving and caring for your family, and making it a pejorative called “patriarchy”

4. Critical theory as it applies to biology and marriage is taking something as socially binding and natural as saying a man is a man, a woman is a woman, and a man and a woman make and raise children, and making it a pejorative called “heteronormative”

5. Critical theory as it applies to pregnancy is taking something as socially binding and natural as being pregnant with a child, and making it a pejorative called a “punishment”, “parasite”, “medical condition”, “fetus”, or “choice”

6. Critical theory as it applies to ethnicity or race is taking something as socially binding as loving and caring for your people (your extended family - ancestry, ethnicity, race), and making it a pejorative called “racism”

7. Critical theory as it applies to ethnicity and race is also taking something as socially binding and natural as unique people wanting to continue their existence in the world, and making it a pejorative called “inbred”, “eugenics”, “master race”, “supremacy”

8. Critical theory as it applies to nations is taking something as socially binding and natural as preserving and protecting a homeland for your people to continue to exist and flourish, and making it a pejorative called “xenophobia”

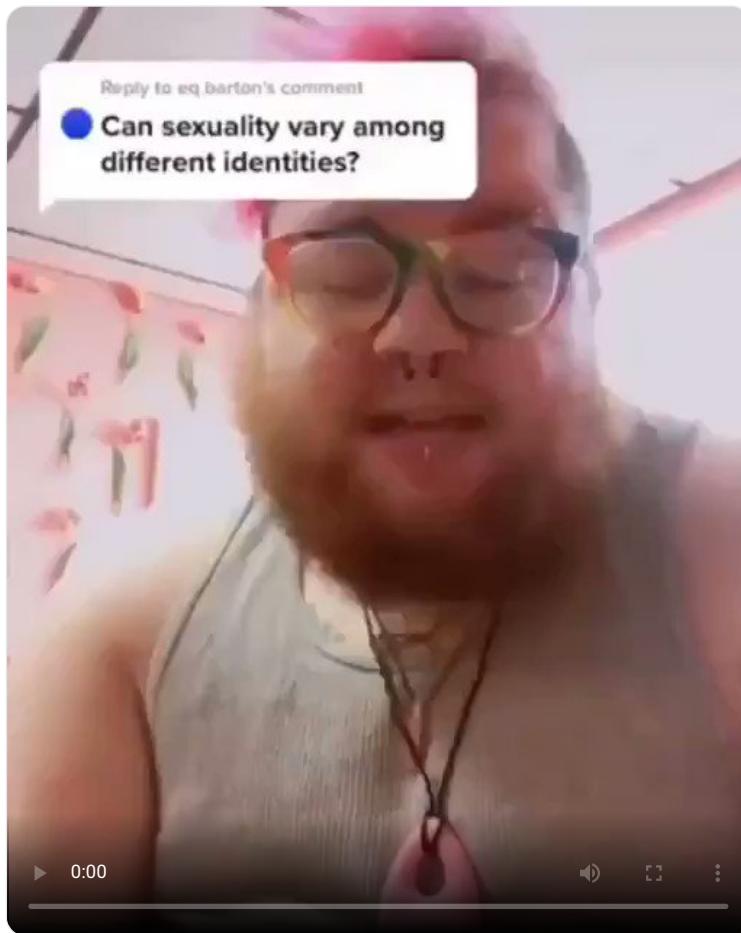

9. Critical theory as it applies to religion and history is taking something as socially binding and natural as shared beliefs, eternal truths, and past of a people, and making it a pejorative called “outdated”, “bigotry”, “hate”, or “centrism”

10. The purpose of critical theory is to critique, demonize, and break apart these socially binding norms in people's minds while promoting the exact opposite of what was normal

11. Critical theory creates a society of basket cases searching for an identity that used to come from traditional places like family, race, country, or religion, and turning us into workers, consumers, and debt slaves

12. Critical theory is the mental and cultural subversion of a people into accepting the Jewish Marxist ideals of abolishing private property, abolishing the family, abolishing nations, and abolishing religion, eternal truths, and the past

Write Winger
@RealWriteWinger

Replies to @RealWriteWinger

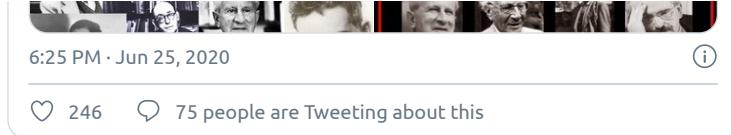

Where did Critical Theory originate? It came out of the Jewish Marxist philosophies of the Frankfurt School during the Weimar period (1918-1933) in Germany, to destroy German society from within and create a new one led by Jewish Marxist.

The Frankfurt School and cultural Marxism

From where the third slide of the previous outfit:

- 1. The erosion of moral standards
- 2. Committing change to create confusion
- 3. The teaching of sex and homosexuality to children
- 4. The undermining of schools' and teachers' authority
- 5. Huge immigration to destroy society
- 6. The promotion of excessive drinking
- 7. Employing of churches
- 8. Unscrupulous lawyers with bias against victims of crime
- 9. Dependency on the state or state benefits
- 10. Control and dumbing down of media
- 11. Encouraging the breakdown of the family
- 12. Promoting immorality in the education of boys and girls
- 13. Encouraging women to be an 'oppressed class' and men as 'oppressors'

Below the list are four black and white portraits of prominent members of the Frankfurt School: Theodor W. Adorno, Max Horkheimer, Walter Benjamin, and Carl Grünberg. Each portrait is accompanied by a red Star of David.

13. The only defense against these subversive attacks on our social immune system is promoting and strengthening these socially binding norms, and purging society of this virus before it purges us, our people, and our nation

...